EURORAM Sets Trends in Demolition Industry

April 27, 2005- With roots in the Netherlands, the Euroram product range specializing in hydraulic demolition and crushing equipment has made its mark throughout the World. The expansion includes the company's breakthrough in the United States. The product line consists of breakers, breaker tools, multiprocessors, pulverizers, steel shears, sorting grabs and compactors.

Setting Trends

The new rising star of high-quality products combines knowledge and practical experience and is setting new trends in terms of quality and innovation, safety, maintenance and service.

There is a close interaction with the Euroram dealer network and the contractors who put the products into use. The manufacturers take advantage of the results of real-world tests. This ensures end-users directly influence the design and production stages. Risk assessments are conducted periodically by independent organizations guaranteeing the highest standards of safety. Euroram-Rockmaster is a CIMA/AEM member and manufactures its equipment in accordance with the requirements set by OSHA.

Euroram is again going against the grain by requiring very little maintenance. Representatives throughout the world maintain equipped workshops; and skilled mechanics guarantee high-quality service.
